

During the short break, I enjoy going fishing with my host father and his friends. This is my first time to catch such a big red snapper! It was about 40 cm. My host dad wanted to try the sashimi but I did not know how to make sashimi. So we watched some Youtube videos and learnt how to make it. Although the sashimi slice was thick, everybody enjoyed having sashimi. I learnt the importance of challenging. I never really enjoyed fishing in Japan, but now I do love it.

This is a picture of international students with Mr. Haines. I made many friends from all over the world. We are all here to study English and they all keep me motivated. During the recess, we would sit down and share many thoughts over lunch. Each of us has different thoughts and they all tell me it is ok to share my thoughts. They always tell me to "not to be shy". I like my classes and I want to learn more from them.
